

ALYSHA PRICE

RELATIONSHIP STRATEGIST, AUTHOR,
LIFESTYLE INFLUENCER, AND FOUNDER OF THE PRICE DYNAMIC

Alysha Price

is a nationally recognized relationship strategist, author, and entrepreneur dedicated to transforming family systems through healthy co-parenting, community support, and innovative solutions. As the founder of The Price Dynamic, Alysha has built a trailblazing organization that offers supervised visitation services, parent education, and tools that empower families to thrive—especially those navigating complex child protection or family court systems.

Alysha is also known as an "All The Things" lifestyle influencer, inspiring her audience with her empowering "can-do" attitude and passion for showing up fully in every area of life—parenting, business, wellness, and purpose-driven living. She motivates others to embrace every role they hold with intention and grace.

A former single mother turned systems-changer, Alysha turned her personal journey into a platform for healing and accountability. She developed the Family Meeting Cards, an interactive tool that strengthens family communication and encourages collective decision-making in households striving for more unity and intention.

Alysha is the creator and host of the acclaimed podcast Co-Parenting Confessions, which ranks in the top 10 parenting podcasts on Goodpods. Her book, It's Not Complicated: A Self-Help Guide for Navigating the Co-Parenting Journey, has helped thousands of parents reframe their relationships for the well-being of their children. In addition to running The Price Dynamic, Alysha recently launched the AP Agency, a hub for social entrepreneurs creating lasting change in underserved communities.

With a blend of real-life experience, professional insight, and unwavering compassion, Alysha Price is a sought-after speaker, coach, and consultant committed to building stronger families—and stronger individuals—one connection at a time.

PRODUCTS & TOOLS

Having personally experienced the impact of such challenges, Alysha recognized a significant gap in the support available to families in overcoming these obstacles. This realization fueled her passion to become a catalyst for change, dedicating herself to developing innovative solutions and resources that empower families to navigate and heal from these difficulties. "By focusing on creating a positive impact in family dynamics, I aim to build a more compassionate and resilient society where individuals can thrive, regardless of their circumstances, and where every family can find the support they need to flourish."

Enhance your event with the remarkable tools created by Alysha Price, including her influential book "It's Not Complicated" and her innovative gamification tool called "Family Meeting Cards®." These resources provide a comprehensive experience for your audience, equipping them with practical applications that can be implemented at home. In her book, "It's Not Complicated," Alysha Price shares profound insights and strategies for navigating co-parenting dynamics; it serves as a roadmap for healing and restoring single mothers. "Family Meeting Cards®," injects an element of fun and engagement into family discussions and decision-making processes. By turning important conversations into an interactive game, this tool promotes effective communication, collaboration, and problem-solving within families.

Incorporating both the book and the gamification tool into your event will provide your audience with practical tools and actionable steps to implement in their own lives.

STATISTICS

4K+

FOLLOWERS

500+

CONNECTIONS

5K+

FOLLOWERS

SPEAKER SUBJECTS

Price is a dynamic and engaging speaker who offers valuable insights on a range of topics that resonate deeply with parents seeking personal growth and empowerment. With a heartfelt and compassionate approach, Price delves into subjects such as learning to forgive and recognize the power of an apology, emphasizing the transformative effects of these actions in fostering healing and personal development.

Price also explores the importance of building a support system tailored to one's evolving needs and emotions, providing practical strategies to create a network that nurtures and uplifts. Another area of expertise lies in effective communication between co-parents, offering guidance and tools to navigate the complexities of co-parenting with respect and understanding. Furthermore, Price offers valuable insights on how to maintain peace and harmony during challenging times, including appropriately grieving the end of a relationship.

Additional Speaking Engagements:

- ★ Listen To Your Mother 2025
- ★ 17th Black Men Healing Conference
- ★ 2025 Singles, Convos & Community, Austin TX
- ★ Supervised Visitation Network Conference 2025

Drawing on personal experiences, Price specializes in empowering single mothers by dismantling societal shame associated with single motherhood, inspiring them to embrace their strength and step into their power. With a unique blend of empathy, expertise, and motivational storytelling, Price leaves audiences feeling inspired and equipped to overcome obstacles and adopt their new normal.

As the founder and CEO of The Price Dynamic, Price has pioneered a groundbreaking approach to co-parenting support. Her organization provides a wide range of resources, guidance, and support services to assist parents in navigating the complexities of parenting apart. Through her innovative initiatives, Price has transformed the lives of countless families, empowering them to create healthier and more harmonious environments for their children.

Alysha's leadership has guided The Price Dynamic through a very impactful year, serving 220 parents across their comprehensive programming.

TPD's commitment to supporting parents has directly impacted the lives of 305 children. These children now have the opportunity to maintain ongoing relationships with both of their parents.

MEDIA & PRESS

Price's expertise and unique perspective have garnered her widespread recognition. She rose to prominence as a featured expert on Oprah Winfrey Network's hit reality series, Love & Marriage Huntsville and coached high profile clients navigating divorce. Her relatable yet neutral approach has earned her a reputation as the go-to expert on coparenting, and her ability to create a safe space for parents to be vulnerable and explore new avenues for healing is unmatched. Recognized for her unprecedented work, Price has been featured in Forbes, where her innovative efforts to promote a more positive outlook on parenting across households were highlighted. Drawing from her personal experiences, Price has been able to develop a social enterprise that is helping break traumatic generational patterns.

TESTIMONIALS

"Alysha Price has been a great support to our moms here at Emerge Mothers Academy. Not only does she communicate well and inspire healthier co-parenting relationships and self care, she also lives it out! Real life examples always speak volumes. She is professional and fun, thoughtful but to-the point. Such a great speaker and resource. We enjoy working with Alysha!"

- Rebecca Erickson, Executive Director Emerge Mothers Academy

FOR BOOKING AND INQUIRIES:

alysha@thepricedynamic.com

www.alyshaprice.com

Reach out to us at our email or website to book Alysha Price for your upcoming event. Elevate your co-parenting journey and inspire positive change today!